LOCAL MISCELLANY.

The celebration of Evacuation Day yesterday ras more general than usual. At sunrise a salute was fired from old Fort Clinton, at the upper end of Central Park, and at the same time the National flag was hoisted over the fort by J. Gould Warner, Adjutant of the "Veterans of the War of 1812." Flags were generally displayed upon the shipping in the harbor and upon the City Hall, Post Office, Custom House, the New-York Life Insurance Comany's building, the Startevant House, the Brunsand on many other buildings throughout the Union-square was especially gay with bunting. The chief commemorative ceremony of the day was David Van Arsdale, a veteran of the War of 1812. climbed the greased flag-staff at the Battery, and replaced the British flag by the Stårs and Stripes.

Mr. Van Arsdale is now eighty-four years of age. He arrived at the Battery a few minutes before the appointed time yest-rday morning, dressed in a neat smit of navy-blue and wearing on his hat the badge of the veterans of 1812. He has a straight, soldierly appearance, pure white hair, and wears no beard. There were about seventy-five persons present. Owing to the strong wind and the large size of the flag. Mr. Van Arsdale was assisted by Adjutant Warner and United States Inspector Abel L. Reed. When the flag reached the top of the staff tugs and steamers near by saluted it with shrid whistles, and the assemble of seventy-five persons cheered the veteran and the flag. When Mr. Van Arsdale returned to the Barge Office, where he is employed, the Custom House officers presented him with a portrait of himself, elegantly framed. The presentation speeches were made by General Sharpe and Major Fornes. The veteran was too much overcome to reply. aced the British flag by the Stårs and Stripes

The members of the Old Guard, under the command of Major George W, McLean, and headed by Dodworth's 13th Regiment Band, began their march from the armory, at Fourth-ave, and Eighteenth-st., at 2:30 p. m. They mustered sixty-five men and wore bear-skin caps, and overcoats, with beits and shoulder-knots. They marched to the City Hail, where they were reviewed by Mayor
Cooper, President Mott and other city officials.
They then proceeded to the Astor flouse and partook or refreshments, after which they returned up
Broadway to their aumery.

They then proceeded to the Associated and the Sourier testinated up Broadway to their aimery.

The Veterans of the War of 1812 assembled at the Sourievant House at 2 p.m., and were entertained by the Messes, Leland. The dining-room was handsomely traumed with flags. There were only fouriest of the veterans present, thirteen having died within the last year. Those present were General Abraham Dally, age eighty-four; Henry Morrie, age eighty-two; Henry Bernard, age eighty-two; Thomas Merson, age eighty-two; Sannel Ryckman, age eighty-seven; Thomas Blank, age eighty-die; David Lopes, who reached his ninety first birthday vesterday; William J. Surre, age eighty-one; David Van Arsdale, age eighty-four; Ashlev C. Baker, age eighty-four; Mechael Van Name, age eighty-four; Christopher Remmey, age eighty-nine; Charles K. Crowley, age ninety-one, and Adjurant J. Gould Warner. General Dally as d Colonel Crowley appeared in full Continental uniform. Major Baker curried the sword which he had used in the War of 1812. An unexpected but very we leone guest at the danner was Misselb Santh Santh Santh and Trenton N. L. age seventimental uniform. Major Baker curried the sword with he had used in the War of 1812. An usexted but yeary welcome guest at the dinner was Miss rah Smith Stafford, of Trenton, N. J., age savity-seven. Miss Sufford is the daughter of Lieumant James Bayard Stafford, of the Bouhoume Ichard. She exhibited yesterday the Bag shotom the Bonhoume Richard during its battle with e British ship Serapis, and which was rescued om the water by Lieutenant Stafford. She also dibbted a cutlass used by Captain Paul Jones in any of his exploits. Miss Stafford's grardfather as in the battle of Lexington. The veterans were many of his exploits. Miss Stafford's grardfather was in the battle of Lexington. The veterans were very joily over their dinner. Speeches were made and cheers were given for their hosts and others, General Dally sang "Wien this Old Hat was New," and Colonel Crowley followed with the sea bailed "My Joily Bold Helen."

THE MAYOR AND ALDERMEN.

TITIDRAWAL OF THE NOMINATION OF CHARLES II. THUAN-A CONFLICT OF AUTHORITY-THE BAT-TERY AND THE RAILROADS.

Mayor Cooper yesterday sent to the Board of Aldermen a communication withdrawing the nominamotion of Alderman Roberts, fifteen aldermen voted to lay the Mayor's communication on the Bauble, this refusing consent to the Mayor's withdrawing Mr. Truax's name. The name of Henry Murray was sent in by the Mayor to take the place of that of Mr. Iruax's name. The name of Henry Murray was sent in by the Mayor to take the place of that of Mr. Iruax, but it was not presented to the Board by President Mott owing to the conflict of authority. The Aldermen claim that the Mayor cannet withdraw a nomination after it has been local to the Board without the consent of the Board has not necessary; that he can withdraw a nomination at any time before confirmation. If the Aldermen should confirm some one of the nembers of the Board the Mayor should be a maintain an appeal to the courts, Mr. Truax told some of the members of the Board that he had not given his consent to the Mayor's withdrawing his nomination, which led some of the Amt-Tammany Alder-Mayor Sword on Monday verying him 270 votes the members of the Board that he had not given his consent to the Mayor's withdrawing his nomination, which led some of the Amt-Tammany Alder-Mayor Sword on the Consent of the Roard that he had not given his consent to the Mayor's withdrawing his nomination, which led some of the Amt-Tammany Alder-Mayor Cooper sent in a veto of the resolution passed by the Board calling on the Park Commissioners to the Mayor's withdrawing his nomination, which led some of the Amt-Tammany Alder-Mayor Cooper sent in a veto of the resolution passed by the Board calling on the Park Commissioners to the Mayor's withdrawing his nomination, which led some of the Amt-Tammany Alder-Mayor Cooper sent in a veto of the resolution passed by the Board calling on the Park Commissioners to the Hard Cooper sent in a veto of the resolution passed by the Board calling on the Park Commissioners had no authority to give heavy to be the color of the Amt-Tammany Alder-Mayor Cooper sent in a veto of the resolution passed by the Board calling on the Park Commissioners had no motion of Alderman Roberts, fifteen Aldermen sted to lay the Mayor's communication enthe

Mayor Cooper seat in a veto of the resolution passed by the Board calling on the Park Commissioners to withdraw and cancel the permission heretofore given to the elevated railway companies to use any portion of the Battery Park for their tracks. The Mayor vetoed the resolution on the ground that the Board of Aldermen has no authority to issue any such instructions, Alderman Morris moved to pass the resolution over the Mayor's veto. He said it was noticeable that the Mayor had always vetoed resolutions when they interfered with elevated railways. He thought that the Park Commissioners had no authority to give away the revenues and frammiscs which are pledged for the redemption of the eight debt. The franchise given to the elevated railways on Battery Park was worth $100,000. Alderman Stewart said:

"This is a historic question. The Battery Park should be protected, not only for the benefit of the people who draw life, health and unsuration from its green sward and shady retreats, but for its historic association. One hundred years ago to-day the American flag was pianted there; and shall we allow that place now to be overruin and destroyed by from tracks, steam cars and mercenary capitalists? I shall vote to overrule the veto." Other members spoke against it, saying that it was a shame to violate the parks in such a way. There were fourteen votes to overrule the veto and two in favor of sustaining it, and there not being the required majority it was not overruled. Alderman Morris introduced a resolution, which was passed, requesting the Mayor to begin an action on behalf of the corporation to prevent the elevated roads from continuing the extension of their tracks on Battery-place. By manimous vote of the Board, the Roman atholic Orphan Asylum was exempted from Cro-

EXAMINING BARE CURIOSITIES. The trustees of the American Museum of Natural History, at Seventy-seventh-st, and Eighth-ave. everlooking Central Park, celebrated the custon sterday afternoon of holding an Autumn reception in the Museum building, similar to the reception always held in the Spring of the year. At these gatherings the trustees are usually accompanied by their wives and daughters, it being the ntention to give to the semi-annual reception a social character. This was the case yesterday. Between 2 and 5 o'clock a great many carriages brought ladies and gentlemen to the Museum doors. As they entered the lower halls they heard the

As they entered the lower balls they heard the sound of orchestral music produced by a band of musicians, appropriately scated among the stuffed birds on the second floor. This reception was to have been held on November 18, but owing to the inclement weather it was repeated yesterday.

The son-in-law of Professor Holdeman, of Philadelphia, is American Consul in British Guinea, and has sent home a collection of North Guinea weapons and domestic implements, which the Professor has given to the Museum. These objects were on exhibition. Other additions to the Museum inspected yesterday were: William Bradford's painting. The Polaris in Thank God Harbor, Looking North into Robeson Channel," deposited by C. P. Huntington; collection of Indian implements, deposited by A. C. Williams, and half presented by Peter C. Cornell; one-fourth of the Perkins collection, presented by Dr. Holder; cast of the left femur of a fossil reptile, presented by Professor O. C. THE SEVENTH REGIMENT FAIR. DRAWING FOR THE DIAMOND SET-LADIES' RIFLE

MATCH-VOTING FOR PAVORITES. Crowds filled the new armory of the 7th Regiment yesterday, both day and evening, and made a large contribution to the receipts of the fair. The exciting event of the fair happened last night. It was the drawing for the $5,000 diamonds of Company G. All of the 5,000 tiesets had been sold on Saturday, but the drawing was reserved to give proper notice of the event, the better to satisfy holders of tickets. At 9 o'clock, as many ladies and gentlemen as could crowd into the committee-room, near the main entrance, stood auxiously waiting from behind the railing and peering over one another's shoulders at a large, new wooden box set in a wooden frame. The Committee on Drawings had borrowed the petit jury bex from the Court House for the diamond rafile, but the Company G Committee preially for the purpose. To give all those in the room au opportunity to see, the wheel was placed upon a table. Underneath it were fifty packages of tickets, 100 to or Smith, who dropped them in a bunch into the wheel. Then Major Crawford, of the Veterans, his coat, and was afterward blindfolded with a blue silk handkerchief. All being ready, Major Smith locked the door to the wheel, gave the key to Major Crawford, and announced what precantions had been taken to secure a fair drawing. He also said that no member of the committee knew the name of any holder of a rarticular ticket. The dramonds were divided into twelve prizes, and the first twelve numbers drawn from the wheel would represent respectively the twelve prizes in the order. first tweive numbers drawn from the wheel would represent respectively the tweive prizes in the order in which they were printed on the back of each ticket. After revolving the whiel several times the door was opened. Quartermaster Weed's hand was led into the wheel and returned with a number which Major Crawford handed to Major Smith, who called off the number twice. The wheel was relocked and turned before each of the twelve numbers was drawn. Nearly every one in the room seemest to be jotting down the numbers as they were called off, but there was not a single note of exuitation. These are the winning numbers:

when the last number was announced; and when Major Smith announced that the prizes would be delivered on and after this evening, several voices shouted, "I don't care." The tickets for the raffle were double coupon tickets. One coupon was taken by the purchaser and the committee retained the duplicate and no names were taken. So it was not known last evening at the booth of Company G who were the prize-winners, except that Wilham A. Pond, jr., won the tenth prize and Miss Jalia Cavanagh was said to have won another, but which, was not known.

There were several other drawings, among them being the beautiful silk quilt worth $150, belonging to Company C, which was won by No. 15, held by Mrs. C. S. Taylor. Company E's diamond lace pin and entrines valued at $1,200 were drawn by No. 1,039, held by Mrs. W. H. Caswell, whose husband's address is 87 Front-st.

After seiling the 5,000 chances in the $5,000 diamonds, Company G put up for a raffle a pair of 12 carat diamond earrings valued at $4,000, for which 2,000 tickets were offered for sale at $2 each. Up to last evening only 300 tickets had been sold and last evening the diamonds were withdrawn. Those holding tickets can recover their money by applying at the booth of Company G, or by sending ticket by mail to G. W. Harlan, No. 694 Broadway.

SOME OF THE PRICES PAID ON THE SECOND DAY. The second day's sale of the library of the late Bayard Taylor, at Bangs & Co.'s auction rooms, No. 739 and 741 Breadway, yesterday, attracted a large number of people, among whom were many ladies. The bidding was lively, and the prices paid were much better than those of the day before. Several of the more valuable works were in a damaged condition, but the majority were in a good state of preservation. "Purchas's Pilgrimes," in five volumes, brought $4 a volume. This was not a perfect copy. After much spirited bidding "The Ascient Monuments of the Mississippi Valley," by E. G. Squier and E. H. Davis, containing forty-eight plates, was sold for $16.50. "The Koran," by George Sale, brought $2. "The Masquerade," by J. G. Saxe, $1.50, and "Rambles and Studies in Greece," by J. P. Mahaffy, $3 25. Lewis and Clarke's "Travels P. Mahafiy, $3 25. Lewis and Clarke's "Travels to the Source of the Missouri River and Across the American Continent," in three volumes, went for $4 a volume. One dollar and a holf cach was paid for twenty-one volumes of "The North American Review," For five volumes of Captain Parry's "First, Second and Third Voyages for the Northwest Passage," $1 each was paid. Other books went as follows: Kadder and Fletcher's Brazil and the Brazilians, $2.75; Plutareh's Lives, the translation called Dryden's, corrected and revised by A. H. Clough, in five volumes, $1 65 cach; Fennyson's "Mand," etc., $2; H. T. Tuckerman's "Book of the Arists," $3; "The Italian Sketch Book," by the same author, $2 10; "Leaves of Grass," by Wait Whitman, $3.87; "Modern Fainters," by J. Ruskin, $1; T. SEEKING TO INCITE A STRIKE.

The strike among the Brooklyn hongshoremen, which was of brief duration, a few days ago, was resumed to some extent yesterday, and the attempt was made to induce the workmen at all the ware houses on the river front to make a demand for higher wages. Among the warehousemen who yielded to the demand for an increase of 5 cents an hour in the wages of their workmen during the week before last were Woodruff & McLean, who did so on the understanding that there was to be a general increase of wages. Finding this not to be the case, on Monday the men were informed that they would be paid at the old rates. At Merchants' stores, of which Woodruff & McLean are the proprietors, the men yesterday refused to go to work, and they then went along the Atlantic Dock trying to induce the other workmen to strike also. Officers were sent out by Captain Reilly, of the Van Brunt Street Police, to preserve order, and shortly after noon an additional force of eighteen men from several other precincts was sent to their assistance. No disturbance was reported yesterday afternoon up to the time when work was stopped, and the police do not anticipate any serious trouble. higher wages. Among the warehousemen who

FARMERS DISCUSSING THE MILK SUPPLY. MEETING OF THE BEDFORD CLUB-AN ADDRESS BY

DR. J. BLAKE WHITE. The Milk Committee of the Bedford Farmers Club, of which John Jay is chairman, held a meeting at Cooper Institute yesterday, to hear the reports of sub-committees. H. R. Pellew, chairman of the Committee on Milk Distribution, submitted a report suggesting several amendments, in sub-

Producers and dealers should be prevented from putting ice in milk as it practically amounts to adulteration. Some provision should be made for preventing an undue feeding of potatoes, turnips, and other watery food which tends to produce a deteriated article. If possible, the possession and offering for sale of contaminated milk should be held to be evidence of knowledge and intent to de-

No system of inspection dependent entirely upon municipal authority will protect the consumers of milk in New-York and Brooklyn.

A resolution was also offered by A. S. Heath propesing that a Cooperation Association should be formed under the laws of the State to supply the city with pure milk of unexceptional quality, delivered in scaled cans, at 6 cents a quart from May to the last of November, and at 8 cents a quart during the other months of the year. These resolutions were referred to the consideration of a committee to report at the next meeting.

other months of the year. These resolutions were referred to the consideration of a committee to report at the next meeting.

A person connected with the Aylesbury Dairy Co., London, gave a brief history of that company, which has been engaged in distributing pure milk in that city for several years. The company was started, he said, ten years aro, and at the beginning only supplied two families with milk. In 1876 the number of gallons sold was 268,000, and during the current year will reach 700,000.

A meeting of the Farmers' Club was also held yesterday at the same place at a different hour. A lecture on "Milk" was read by Dr. J. Blake White, Milk Inspector of the Board of Health.

The importance of the question of pure milk appeared, he said, in view of the fact that 75 per cent of the children born in New-York City were nourished by means of artificial food. The milk of several cows mixed together, is, as a rule, much better for the purpose than that of any one cow. The conditions of good milk are the quantity and quality of the food fed to the cows, exercise, water and temperature, and the cleanliness of stables. Age, breed, season of the year and other conditions affect the quality of the milk. The custom of penning cows up without exercise, air and sufficient water, and feeding them on the swill of distilleries, has produced serious results. In no case, even where all other conditions are good, should swill be used as food. The best food is grass, but whatever the food, there should always be an abundance of pure water. Many diseases have been traced to centaminated milk. It is also well known that children in large cities where impure milk is used are especially liable to epidemic diseases. Much of the milk brought into market is didited. Skimming qualities is also practised by some milk dealers,

FINDING AN ABANDONED SHIP.

By the Norwegian bark Maria, which arrived in the Lower Bay from Cadiz on Sunday night, is brought the news of the finding of the Nova Scotian ship Royal Charter, abandoned in mid-ocean, apparently in good condition. The vessel was sighted on November 4 in latitude 42° 47′ North, longitude 45° West, with some of her canvas still set and other sails tern in ribbons. Everything in the cabin and around the decks was in the utmost confusion, as if the vessel had been abandoned in haste. First officer Falck boarded her and found that the cargo of wheat was not damaged; that there were plenty of provisions and water on board in good condition; the vessel was leaking slightly and there was about four feet of water in the hold. The vessel was boarded again next day, pumped free of water, and Captain Oisen with five selected scamen went on board, taking with them a barometer, marine glass, charts, signal book and satling directions, etc., and after making repairs to the rigging and sails, parted company with the Maria, intending to make for a Norwegian port.

The Royal Charter left this port on October 18, with a cargo of 70,400 bushels of wheat, valued at about $100,000 and fully insured, for Antwerp. The vessel was valued at about $40,000. and was commanded by Captain Cain. On October 29 she was spoken by the Russian bark Hermes, with signals of distress flying, and the captain, his wife and a crew of twenty men'were taken off and landed at Amsterdam on November 22.

THE POISONED LEMON PIE.

The family of B. C. Wheeler, of West Forty-third-st., which is supposed to have been poisoned by eating a lemon meringue pic, bought at the store of C. J. Commissioner Voorhis took his seat vesterday in Commissioner Voorhis took his seat yesterday in the Police Board and was assigned to the Committhe Police Board and was assigned to the Commit-tees on Street Cleaning, Repairs and Supplies and Election. A resolution ordering that the employés of the Street Cleaning Bureau be subject to the di-rection of the chairman of the Street Cleaning Com-mittee, was passed on motion of Commissioner Mac-Lean. The proprietors of the "Strand," at No. 512 Sixth-ave., and a similar resort at No. 455 Sixth-ave., applied for theatrical hierases, but the police reported that they were not proper places to have heenses. The report was filed.

Dispatches received yesterday at the Produce Exchange in relation to the canals were a little more favorable. From Albany dispatches stated that boats were steadily arriving at West Troy, and there was no known obstruction to navigation on the canal. Superintendent Clark and his assistants were between Syracuse and Albany making efforts to get the boats through, and the weather was fivorable. A dispatch from Palatine Bridge said, "No boats between Frankfort and Fultonville going east." From Schenectady: "All depends on weather next forty-eight hours."

BROOKLYN. While the family of Abraham Burtis, of No. 47 South Portland-ave., was at supper on Monday evening, in the basement of the house, the front door was opened with a false key, and a sneak-thicf carried off jeweiry valued at $300.

carried off jeweiry valued at $300.

There was a meeting yesterday of the Supervisors' Committee appointed to consider the question of changing the fiscal year of the county so that it will begin on January 1, instead of Angust 1 as at present, County Treasurer Schenek appeared before the committee and favored the change. In order to make it, he said, it would only be necessary to provide for the routine expenses for the five months between August 1 and January 1 following. This would require about $300,000.

Mr. Schenek added that the city was in arrears in its payments to the county to the amount of $548,928 03, and the county had to borrow money to pay its debts. No action was taken by the committee.

JERSEY CITY.

JERSEY CITY.

William Anness, of No. 2541₂ Barrow-st., Jersey City, fell from the reof of a house yesterday and was badly hurt. He was carried to the Charity Hospital in an unconscious condition.

James Moutly and George Kelly, alias George Mc-Kelvey, the two men arrested last week while on their way to the ferry with the silverware and clothing stolen from the house of Joseph Eager, No. 88 Summit-ave. Jersey City Heights, were yester-day given an examination, and were then commit-ted to the County Jail to await trial.

ted to the County Jail to await that.

Eliza Martin Bergemeyer, a servant in the family of Henry Koern, at No. 32 Morris-st., Jersey City, committed suicide early Monday morning by entring her throat with a carving knife. She cat her head nearly half off. The body was found on the floor of the kitchen in a pool of blood. No cause can be assigned for the act, except that the woman was recently disappointed in a love affair.
